© BROADMOOR HOTEL CO.

The Broadmoor Hotel is located in the suburb also known as Broadmoor, a colony of fine clubs and homes. It is a pure white building of Italian architecture, fronting upon a lake on one side and surrounded by beautifully landscaped grounds. It is the most noted hotel as well as one of the show places of the Pike's Peak Region.

GATEWAY TO THE GARDEN OF THE GODS.

This natural gateway consists of two enormous masses of red sandstone forming the entrance to the Garden. On the right hand rock is the formation called the Kissing Camels, in the distance is Pikes Peak and Mount Manitou. Just beyond the right hand rock is the Hidden Inn, a building of the Pueblo Indian architecture.

1053 Feet above the Stream

This beautiful suspension bridge, constructed in 1929, stretches like a silver cobweb over the dark chasm of the Royal Gorge. It is a masterpiece of engineering, so impressive as to attract world wide attention. The bridge is supported by cables nearly 6 inches thick, weighing 300 tons. The towers are 150 ft. high, the main span 880 ft. in length.
