

DEATH OF MRS. WORTHEN.

Hartford City, Ind., March 20.—Mrs. Mattie Worthen, wife of William Worthen, a painter, died this evening at her home on North Monroe street. She had been practically unable to eat anything for two or three weeks previous to her death. Last Friday evening it was thought that she was dead and the women who were called to the house laid her out. She revived in a few hours, although no hope for her recovery was entertained afterward. She leaves a husband and three children, the eldest about ten years old.
