

THE EXEMPTION CLAIMS OF FIFTY- EIGHT BOYS DENIED

First Announcement of Conscription Board On Matter of Exemptions

SAID EVERYONE ON LIST IS MARRIED

Local Government Agent
Ordered To Appeal All
Dependency Cases

The county conscription board posted the names of fifty-eight men Tuesday for army service. They are men who had filed exemptions but the board denied their claims. It is the understanding of the board that all of them are married. With less than half a dozen exceptions all of the fifty-eight based the exemption claims on the grounds that they had wives and children depending on them for support. A few claimed that their parents were depending on them for support. It is the intention of the board to have a partial list of the exemptions which will be granted ready for publication tomorrow. However, the complete list of these claims which have been accepted and rejected will not likely be finished until the latter part of the week.

Prosecutor Mendenhall, who has been appointed to represent the government in this conscription work, received a telegram from Washington Tuesday ordering him to appeal every case where the local board grants exemptions on account of dependency. This is a new phase of the situation which the Hamilton county board nor Mr. Mendenhall had any knowledge of until the message came and they take ~~it to mean that the government is~~ going to be very strict on the exemption question. The following is the list of the men that was posted in the office of the Sheriff Tuesday morning for military service because
